6 According to the last division order there are 10 branches in the Central Press as noted in the P.O. of April 1910 put up below

7 They are (1) office (2) Proof (3) Despatching (4) Composing (5) printing (6) binding, (7) Litho (8) Casting (9) Miscellaneous + (10) menials.

8 Of these, the Supdt proposes to exclude (1) the office + (2) Despatching branches from operation of the Overtime allowance rules.

9 Hay E

9 In the main as per P.O. 1910, employees in the Account, Store & Electrical departments ^{+ servants} are not allowed overtime. So also piece workers ^{and} ~~and~~ day extra labourers are not paid overtime. In this respect the rule here is that permanent employees alone are entitled to overtime.

10 Overtime working has to be resorted to for two reasons (1) On account of very urgent work recd from the Govt & members of Govt & (2) to clear up arrears

11 In the first case ~~the~~ overtime is a necessity & has to be provided for. Overtime in the second case seems in appropriate. In this case piecework can be employed to the extent required & the men would be paid according to their work. There would be no overtime.

Serial

[✓] The Supor in the letter under disposal states that "if the Press is not worked overtime work would be hopelessly in arrears". How this can be consistent with the capacity of the Press is not known. This will mean either that the work need in the Press is more than ~~that~~ the present staff can cope with or that the working hours are fewer than ought to be. The order of March 1899 fixed the working hours from 10 am to 5 pm. In the Press Manual 10-30 am to 5-30 pm was proposed. The latter rule must be in operation now.

Flag D

Flag V

[✓] If the state of work in the Govt Press requires more men to cope with, the Supor is competent to employ more men on piece work.

Thus payment of overtime ^{allowance} which is necessarily costly, for making up arrears of work seems in appropriate.

14 Limiting the occasion to work the Press overtime to urgent work to be done for the Govt (Deewan & members of Govt) the next point for consideration is what classes of men in the Press will be required on such occasions. The Supor must know what classes are required. But it is submitted that Compositors, type casters and ~~a few~~ ^{not} others of that sort may ~~be~~ ^{be} very essential. On several occasions ^{allowance for there has been claimed} from a perusal of the several orders put up in the Collection below, below it will be evident that till now Govt have been very unwilling to extend the scope of overtime allowance.

15 But some modification of the existing order in this matter is felt a necessity & the grant of overtime allowance may be

Serial
No.

sanctioned to the men in the composing, Proof, printing, Binding & litho branches subject to other rules in the matter.
~~Order~~ ~~Order~~ ~~Order~~ 7 with reference to the Branch Press a diff.
rule seems to be called for.
The occasions when the Branch Press at Mysore will be called upon to work overtime are the Birth day & Dassara season.
The pressure then is something out of ordinary and overtime allowance may be allowed to all men of the Branch Press that are actually employed overtime subject
to other rules.

14 With the introduction of several Branches in the Press since the order of 1895 it is necessary that the claims of employees due for overtime be extended.

It seems unnecessary
to make much of the difference

The orders now in force regulating the above are those contained in government Orders (1) No. 22658-60/G.F.38-92
dated 26th June 1894 and (2) No. 14393-4/G.F.38-92 dated 11th March 1895 as modified by Government Orders (1) 9433-34/
G.F.38-92 dated 16th February 1900 and (2)
Government Order No. 12690-91 dated 27th
March 1901.

2. In accordance with the above orders the following officials are ^{now} entitled to Overtime Allowances:--

- (1) Foreman of the Central Government Press.
- (2) Proof Reading Branch.
- (3) Permanent Compositors.
- (4) Binders.

3 Since the issue of the above orders
~~of~~ the Press Establishment has been considerably increased by the addition of new branches of work.

4 But no action was taken by the Superintendent to get the orders revised from time to time so as to include in it such members of the additional branches as may be reasonably entitled to overtime allowance, but as a matter of fact overtime allowance used to be claimed and passed
for. ^{the} ~~the~~ latter also until quite recently,

when

when on a scrutiny of an overtime bill with the existing orders, the allowances claimed for branches other than those specified in the orders of 1900 and 1901 were disallowed under the orders of the late First Member. Thereupon the Superintendent represented that such disallowance worked hard on the men who were long in the enjoyment of the allowances and were reasonably entitled to it, and submitted a recommendation that all working -- Sections of the Press (Office and despatching branches being excluded) may be admitted to the benefit of the overtime allowance. The Superintendent's recommendation has been -- examined and generally accepted by the --- Financial Department and the draft order -- put up has been approved by the late --- First Member.

5. It may be added that pending approval of the general orders all recent claims for actual overtime are being passed under the late First Member's orders in each case -- (Vide also his general recommendation of 7th March 1916-paragraph 36 of Office Note in File 2 of 1915).

6. Overtime allowances are paid at the rate of the salaries of the men, the working day reckoning from 10.A.M. to 5 P.M., one morning extra from 7 to 10. A.M., ----- or one evening extra from 5 to 8 P.M., -- counting as half day. After 8 P.M., 6 hours is counted as one day. Minimum allowance is one Anna & the maximum Rs 2/- There are the rates fixed for the Govt. of India Press.

^x
Under the rules now in force regulating the grant of overtime allowances to employees on the Government Press Establishment, the following officials alone are entitled to the allowance:—

- (1) Foreman of the Central Press.
- (2) Proof Reading Branch.
- (3) Permanent Compositors.
- (4) Binders.

2. Since the issue of the above orders, new branches of work have been established in the Press and the Establishment has been considerably augmented. The newly appointed officials are as eligible and deserving in respect of overtime allowance as the officials specifically mentioned in the orders referred to above, but the benefit of the rules has had to be denied to them as the newly created appointments do not come within the purview of the existing orders.

From The Super, Govt Press,

To The Secretary, Genl Dept

Sir, With reference to your letter no
G 4273/SP 2-15-16 dated the 25th instant returning the overtime allowance bill of the Govt Branch Press at Mysore for June 1915. I have the honor to state that notwithstanding the old Govt Order quoted in the above letter the principle that all men belonging to the working sections of the Press are entitled to overtime allowance has been accepted by Govt in actual practice for ^{very} many years as evidenced by the bills sanctioned from time to time.

Now that the question has been raised, I feel to state that overtime is only resorted to when necessary to meet urgent demands and to cope with constantly increasing work. No over time is allowed unless signed for by the Superintendent. If the ~~work~~^{press} worked only normal hours, all work would be hopelessly in arrears. I request therefore that Government may be pleased to modify the ~~old orders~~ on this subject so as to admit the claims of all working sections of the Press to overtime allowance, office and despatching branches being excluded.
